

JOSEPH BERTEL DEAD;
EX-PRESIDENT OF QUEENS.Dies of Pneumonia in Carlbad
While Visiting Son-in-Law.

Joseph Bertel, Borough President of Queens in 1905 and always a controlling figure in political affairs of the borough, is dead of pneumonia at Carlbad, Czechoslovakia, according to a cablegram received at his home in Middle Village today. Mr. Bertel went to Prague several weeks ago to visit his son-in-law, Capt. Frank Jodicka, U. S. A., military attaché to the United States mission to the government.

Mr. Bertel was sixty-one years old. He built up a highly prosperous business in marble and cemetery monuments at Middle Village. He was supervisor of Newtown when Greater New York was organized and was appointed Public Works Commissioner for Queens by Borough President Cassidy. After four years he broke with Cassidy and formed a coalition of Independents and Anti-Cassidy Democrats and Republicans which fought Cassidy until "Curly Joe's" sentence for selling justice nominations which ended his public career and hastened his death a year ago.

SLAIN AT HIS DOOR;
KILLING LAID TO FEUD.Victim Falls Victim His Revolver
Stray Bullets Hit Three.

Another unsolved Italian feud murder was added to the long police list when three men walked up to William Sperduti, at the door of his home, No. 70 Mott Street, last night and shot him to death. Sperduti fell firing his revolver. Mrs. Caroline Lassala of No. 70 Mott Street, Mrs. Anna Leone of No. 402 14th Avenue, Brooklyn, and Frank Garofalo of No. 124 East Third Street, were struck and slightly injured by stray bullets.

No one has been found thus far who will admit having witnessed the shooting, although Mott Street was crowded at the time. Sperduti had been sought by the police since May 4 when it is alleged he took part in a hold-up.
